

Name: _____

Date: _____

RESEARCH PROJECT: RESEARCH PAPER – EXAMPLE CASE GUIDELINES

Writing Workshop #2

For this section of your research paper, you will individually research, record notes for, and write a research summary of a current event article that discusses a current issue and/or violation of your inequality topic. (This section will be similar to the numerous current event research summaries we wrote throughout the semester such as MLB umpire case, the Google case, or the Starbucks cup debate).

Your research summary will be only five sentences. It will follow the format of all the summaries we wrote together (thesis, reason, support, counterclaim, and conclusion). In order to help you write your research summary, refer to the examples we wrote in class.

Your first step for this section will be to use your research resources to find a relevant and APPROPRIATE research current event article. You should apply the research strategies discussed and practiced with Ms. Parks. Your source must be a RELIABLE source (research database, newspaper articles, .org and .edu web addresses, etc.). For this section, you will be required to provide a citation of the resource you used (we will discuss how to incorporate and format this citation in class).

Once you find your article, you will record CORNELL NOTES for your article. This component will be included in the overall assessment of this section. You must follow the Cornell Notes structure, and the summary section of your Cornell Notes will serve as the first draft of your research summary. We will peer revise and peer edit these summaries next class period.

Name: _____

Date: _____

RESEARCH PROJECT: RESEARCH PAPER – EXAMPLE CASE GUIDELINES

Writing Workshop #2

For this section of your research paper, you will individually research, record notes for, and write a research summary of a current event article that discusses a current issue and/or violation of your inequality topic. (This section will be similar to the numerous current event research summaries we wrote throughout the semester such as MLB umpire case, the Google case, or the Starbucks cup debate).

Your research summary will be only five sentences. It will follow the format of all the summaries we wrote together (thesis, reason, support, counterclaim, and conclusion). In order to help you write your research summary, refer to the examples we wrote in class.

Your first step for this section will be to use your research resources to find a relevant and APPROPRIATE research current event article. You should apply the research strategies discussed and practiced with Ms. Parks. Your source must be a RELIABLE source (research database, newspaper articles, .org and .edu web addresses, etc.). For this section, you will be required to provide a citation of the resource you used (we will discuss how to incorporate and format this citation in class).

Once you find your article, you will record CORNELL NOTES for your article. This component will be included in the overall assessment of this section. You must follow the Cornell Notes structure, and the summary section of your Cornell Notes will serve as the first draft of your research summary. We will peer revise and peer edit these summaries next class period.